Management of the Cardio-Oncology Patient

Dr. Ranjan Ray
Center of Advanced Heart Failure Therapies
California Pacific Medical Center, Sutter Health

Dr. Ranjan Ray received his medical degree and Doctor of Philosophy degree at Georgetown University, Washington, D.C. While in graduate school, Dr. Ray's research in vascular biology led to his interest in cardiovascular medicine and subsequent internship and residency in Internal Medicine at the Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center (Harvard Medical School Teaching Hospital) in Boston, MA. Following residency training, Dr. Ray completed his fellowship in Cardiovascular Disease at Stanford University and pursued further subspecialty training in Advanced Heart Failure and Transplantation under the direction of Dr. Sharon Hunt.

After his fellowship, Dr. Ray was recruited to the faculty at Stanford with a clinical focus in managing advanced heart failure patients and post-heart transplant care. During his tenure at Stanford, Dr. Ray served as the director for heart failure outreach as well as medical director of Heart Failure and Transplantation for the Department of Veterans Affairs' regional advanced heart failure and transplant program in Palo Alto. While at Stanford and the VA, Dr. Ray was involved in several clinical trials that investigated the use of novel drug treatments for acute heart failure patients and efficacy of remote monitoring.

Since 2016, Dr. Ray has brought his expertise in advanced heart failure to the Sutter Health network through the Center of Advanced Heart Failure Therapies at CPMC.

Run, Walk & Cycle this September during Childhood Cancer Awareness Month

September 1st – 30th, 2023

The 11th Annual Million Mile is a virtual fitness challenge that funds researchers so they can find better treatments and more cures for childhood cancer.

Whether you're a casual walker, an avid cyclist, or a triathlete, YOU can make a difference in the lives of children fighting cancer from anywhere by logging your miles during this virtual event. To show support for and bring awareness to Childhood Cancer Awareness Month, participants of all ages log as many active miles as possible all month long while raising money to help kids with cancer. Our goal is to collectively move millions of miles in September.

Please join BAPHON for our TENTH year supporting this amazing organization! With your prior support, BAPHON has donated $16,000 and logged over 13,000 miles in support of childhood cancer awareness.

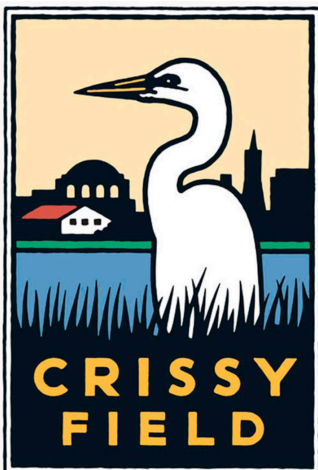

BAPHON will be sending out reminders during the month of August, or you can register today at:
